

GOLF

Undefeated in their early matches, the Stanford linksters appeared ready to take their place in a long line of outstanding Indian golf squads. The Cards opened their season with a win over the Peninsula Golf and Country Club and went on to conquer San Francisco State, the Alumni, the San Diego Marines, and the Sunnyside Country Club of Fresno. Bill Farrish, Kent Winton, Ron Preston, and Pete Choate were low scorers in these early outings.

Blasting onto the green, Dick Hall moves his ball to within putting distance of the hole. Indian golfers play their home matches on the beautiful Stanford course, one of the toughest in the West.

Indian ace Bill Farrish carded a brilliant 67 in one of the early matches.

Watching the golfers sweep through early season matches, Bud Finger hoped they might go on to gain national laurels.

First Row: Kent Winton, Ron Preston, Dick Hall. Second Row: Bill Farrish, Phil Underwood, Bill Seanor, Lee McGuire.

First Row: Bob Knott, Cameron Hurst, Bill Welch. Second Row: Gerald Forester, Pete James, Dave Munro.

GOLF

Opening their season with wins over College of San Mateo and Menlo College, the frosh golf team dropped a match to the alumni and then defeated Robert Louis Stevenson School. Lacking individuals of national champion calibre, the team worked to fulfill its potential and was aided by outstanding performances from Dave Munro, Pete James, and Cappy Hurst.